

What's behind this door?

At the bottom of my garden, behind the vicious, prickly brambles I have found this old wooden door. The door has a large, rusty bolt on it, It looks as if no one has touched it for years and years.

What do you think is behind it?

With your family talk about what you all think could be behind the door.

Draw a picture of what is behind the door.

Or make a model of what could be behind the door.

Could you write a story of what happened when you opened the door and ventured into this other place?

You could write your story with your family if you wanted to.
