

MY MYTH STORY

Long time ago, there was a boy named Odyssey, he lived a town called Rhodes. This boy lives somewhere where people are sad because every year on the 2nd of July they get attacked by some type of monster. They call that day monster destroy day they have had it ever since 550 BC. All the boy wanted to do was just make the town happier like in 595 BC. The boy wore ripped clothes and broken shoes and his hair was so puffy you couldn't see the top of his head. The reason why he had to go on this adventure is because he had to make everyone live in a safe environment and be happy again.

As the boy starts walking he spots a little shop that sells food and water so he stops by and then ... The brought some water and some bread but it tasted funny. The man who worked there had a grin on his face but then the boy suddenly felt fine. Turns out the bread was poisoned. The man thought to himself poison kills you and said to himself 'I must be a type of Hero or even a God.' Then the man said

‘no you can’t be you don’t live on mount Olympus.’ Then the man realized he was being so mean he was turning into a villain.

After a while, Odysseus is struggling to walk then he sees dust in the air and a person was created by the dust his name was Hermes he was sending a message to Odysseus from Zeus. The message said ‘ here are some powers for you to defeat this monster lots of love your dad Zeus.’ Hermes blows the magical dust at Odysseus and he has the powers to do anything he could lift up a tree and he could do anything.

As the journey gets longer, he spots someone or something in the distance. Then he went closer and closer, it was just a pot of gold he thought well that isn’t any help then he heard a sound. It was some sort of animal but then the animal said ‘ it is not just a pot of gold put your hands in deep.’ So he did and he found out that there were swords to defeat this cruel and selfish creature that attacks his town.

Over there, was the cave that the monster lies in...

As soon as, he walked in he could see slimy scales everywhere green and yellow hairs swaying on the floor. He could hear snakes slithering and in the distance he could see four blue beading eyes staring at him. When he was tiptoeing through he could smell dragon and snake food everywhere. Then the monster rose into the light Odysseus was frightened this monster had two disgusting heads that one looked like a human then the other one was a dragon head. Then he realized that one looked medusa that because she had snake hair but then the monster tried to eat him but they couldn't because they had there heads chopped of. When he was leaving he saw a sigh on the wall saying medieval scales do not enter

When he got home he was set out for way more adventures.
